- Please only hang your poster on the day you are presenting.
- During the 2:50pm–3:30pm poster session, please remain by your poster with a brief 2–5 minute presentation ready as delegates circulate.
- Where possible, we also encourage you to be available near your poster during breaks.
- At the end of your presentation day, please remove your poster and take it with you.

Suggested poster structure

Background or context

- Briefly describe the issue, need, evidence gap, policy context or community priority your poster addresses. Explain why the topic matters for reproductive rights, abortion access, bodily autonomy, equity or healthcare practice.

Aim or purpose

- State the aim of your research, project, evaluation, service initiative or advocacy activity. Keep this section short and focused so delegates can quickly understand what you set out to achieve.

Approach or methods

- Summarise what you did and how you did it. This may include research methods, service design, co-design processes, community engagement, clinical practice changes, policy analysis, training approaches or advocacy activities.
- Findings, learnings or outcomes
- Highlight the most important findings, insights, outcomes or lessons learned. Use visuals where possible and avoid including too much text. Focus on what delegates need to know and what may be useful for practice, advocacy, policy or future research.

Implications and next steps

- Summarise what your work means for abortion care, reproductive healthcare, access, equity, education, service delivery or advocacy. Consider including clear recommendations, future actions or questions for discussion with delegates.

Helpful Tips

- The cost of printing and transporting posters is payable by the presenter. Check any reimbursement options with your organisation, line manager or project budget holder.
- If you are travelling to Brisbane/Meanjin, consider how you will transport your poster safely. Fabric posters or poster tubes may be useful options.
- Ensure your poster is printed and ready before the conference, and bring a backup digital copy in case reprinting is required.
